Bike to Work Day Winner ‘Peddles’ First Win

Washington, D.C. – Edgar Montalvo had never won anything in his life. That status has changed courtesy of the D.C. Lottery. The Sterling, VA resident was the winner of the D.C. Lottery’s performance hybrid cycle and safety gear awarded as part of Bike to Work Day 2010, held May 21, 2010 at Freedom Plaza and throughout the Washington, D.C. metropolitan region.

“I’ve never won anything. I participate to help out, but this was a great surprise. It’s a really nice bike. I couldn’t believe it!” says the intermediate cyclist who signed-up for Bike to Work 2010 as a team building effort with his coworkers. “I can ride this bike every day!”

Bike to Work Day is an annual celebration of bicycling as a clean, fun, and healthy way to commute organized by the Washington Area Bicyclist Association and Commuter Connections.

“The D.C. Lottery is proud to support events like Bike to Work Day that encourage healthy and environment-friendly commuter options. We’re also glad to have given Mr. Montalvo his first win, further proving that lots of people win with the D.C. Lottery!” states Buddy Roogow, executive director of the D.C. Lottery.

With his registration for Bike to Work Day 2010, Mr. Montalvo entered the drawing for the D.C. Lottery bike. This year marked the D.C. Lottery’s second annual sponsorship of a bike giveaway for this event.
